

Montana Folk Festival Butte, MT, July 13-15, 2018

First Peoples' Marketplace Guidelines

Application Process

- All vendors must apply each year, including vendors who have participated in previous festivals.
- Applicants must complete the application and answer all questions. Festival organizers may request clarification; failure to provide clarification is grounds for rejection.
- Applicants must submit four (4) to six (6) color photos (digital preferred) of representative pieces of art they intend to sell; these will not be returned.
- Applicants must comply with the definition of "Indian," or "Indian Artisan," under the Indian Arts & Crafts Act of 1990, and provide proof of this and/or tribal affiliation.

Selection Process - The First Peoples' Marketplace features the juried, handmade creations of Montana's finest Native artists and craftspeople. It will include both deeply traditional crafts and more contemporary artistic expressions rooted in the American Indian experience. A committee selects Marketplace vendors based on a set of criteria that includes: quality, uniqueness, authenticity, connection to regional culture, and artist's relationship with his or her community. The committee reviews all applications and selects vendors who best meet these criteria. Selected participants will be strongly encouraged to demonstrate, if appropriate and feasible.

Note: for those in the "traditional arts" category, the festival adheres to the following definition:

Traditional arts are those art forms that are learned as part of the cultural life of a group of people whose members share a common ethnic heritage, language, religion, occupation, or culturally united geographic region.

Folk and traditional arts are shaped by the aesthetics and values of a shared culture and are passed from generation to generation, most often within family and community through observation, conversation and practice.
